they are pillars of our community!

Charlie first became aware of Rotary while in high school and then shortly after he started his restaurant, a couple customers invited him to attend a Rotary meeting. Back then, he was focused on his new business and couldn't commit to joining a club. By 2009 the restaurant was established, and he was looking to get involved in a way that gives back to the community that has been such a part of his success.

His favorite activity through the years has been working with USO and then more recently helping to start Anchor Place Respite Dunwoody. He especially likes how the finances support local and also international causes and recognizes that through Rotary, your donation dollars go a long way. Charlie likes the social events and hopes the club continues to find reasons to get together for dinners and other events.

In recognition of their incredible contributions, club president Jack Sparks created the "Charlie and Anita Augello People of Action Award" in June 2024. This annual award will celebrate members who passionately improve Dunwoody and the world.
